Caution: Children's development is dependent upon the individual child and progresses at a different rate for each child. We, therefore, caution the purchaser or user of the lesson plans to use good judgment as to which activities are appropriate for each specific child. This caution is most often needed for sharp objects, small objects, gross motor skill activities, edible recipes which may not be appropriate for every child, and all areas of safety for the child. Thank you for always following safe practices when teaching and working with the children in your care.
